- #Whosintheforum
- What would be your Facebook status update right now?

A silhouette of a person climbing a dark, jagged rock formation against a bright blue sky. A large, bright sun is positioned in the upper center, creating a strong lens flare effect. The person is in profile, facing right, and appears to be in the middle of a climb.

Outline for workshop

- How does social networking challenge YP resilience?
 - Definitions of resilience
 - The Resilience framework
- What do young people need to support their resilience in the modern technological age?
- Examples in groups and how the resilience framework can support those examples.
 - Your own experiences

Cyber Bullying

- 28% of young people aged 11-16 reported being targeted, threatened through social networking (Beat Bullying research 2012)
- 4,377,780 secondary school age YP- 350,222 have suffered persistent & insidious bullying in the UK
- 23% it lasted a year or more
- 40% months and weeks
- 26% it started online/44% started offline

Cyber Bullying

“ Through this bullying which was not just on the internet, I tried to commit suicide, ended up going to CAMHS and stopped going to school. The only reason it has improved is because I left school.” (Girl, 16)

The impact:

- 20% revealed that the fear made them reluctant to go to school
- 19% experienced reduced confidence and self esteem
- 14% did not feel safe
- 5% self harmed
- 3% reported attempting suicide as a result of their experiences.

The impact:

- MH foundation report: 53% of YP feeling depressed, lonely due to connecting online as oppose to in person.
- You Gov Poll Samaritans 2011- 21% of YP identifying loneliness as their main concern- The Eleanor Rigby Generation- better connected and more alone.

How many social networking sites do you think there are?

The background of the image is a dense, colorful collage of numerous web service logos. These logos represent a wide variety of online services, including social media (e.g., Facebook, MySpace, Friendster), music (e.g., Last.fm, Pandora), video (e.g., YouTube, Vimeo), and utility services (e.g., Flickr, Dribbble). The logos are arranged in a grid-like fashion, filling the entire frame. Overlaid on this collage is a large, solid black rectangular box. Inside this box, the text "How many social networking sites do you think there are?" is written in a large, white, sans-serif font. The text is centered both horizontally and vertically within the black box.

Further risks.....

- The availability of personal information
- The permanency of your profile
- Disclosure
- Exposure
- Young people with additional vulnerabilities such as learning, physical and those experiencing constellated disadvantage

An opportunity for engagement?

- Vital part of youth culture
- Importance of engagement and interaction vs knowledge transfer
- Opportunities for continued engagement outside of direct interventions

Examples of good practice

- MyMsta- South African mobile based initiative
- The Jack Project- Canadian MH mobile phone based project
- Zumbido- supporting people living with HIV- Mexico and now UK
- Interactive websites
- POI mapping point-

Resilience Defined:

- Positive adaptation to adversity despite serious threats to adaptation or development.’ (Ann Masten 2001)
- ‘Adequate provision of health resources necessary to achieve good outcomes in spite of serious threats to adaptation or development.’ (Ungar 2005: 429)

Key principles of RT

- Acknowledges YP presentation at the psychological, social and developmental level
- You cannot work with the individual without the social
- Social networking a key part of YP culture and social world and informing who they are as an individual
- Anyone can work with RT!

Examples and RT

- What are the risks for the YP?
 - How does the internet exemplify the risk?
- What is missing for the YP in Resilience terms?
Coping, basics, core self, learning etc?
- How can the resilience framework support the work?
 - What is your overall aim and where would you begin?

Feedback

- Group discussion
- What will you do differently as a result of the session?
- What are you taking away that you didn't have when you came today?
- Do we have a professional responsibility to use social networking sites ourselves?
